

About: Marley Marine

Marley Marine Electrical are committed to ensuring our clients achieve their vision, by fulfilling all their electrical requirements. Our engineers are experienced in dealing with all aspects of the marine industry, managing projects across the UK and Europe.

Marley Marine Electrical offers a fully comprehensive service for boat owners, boat designers, boat builders and marine equipment suppliers, from design through to installation, including project management.

Marley Marine Electrical are experts in new technologies, achieving compliance with current regulations and ensuring class approval.

I've been installing the Leading Edge Turbines in Portsmouth and have had excellent feedback from customers.

Equipment Used,

More about this Project

James Marley, owner of Marley Marine, has worked in the marine industry his entire life running teams of installers for various companies. He has been working with Leading Edge for a number of years and has been supplying and installing their turbines for his customers.